—Feeling the need of a new word in the English language to express the common gender implied in the awkward sentence “Every man and woman has and her duty,” the West has suggested the word “it,” composed of the neuter pronoun “it,” and the letter “a” as a common gender termination. Let every teacher and editor give his opinion of the proposed innovation.